ABSTRACT

As I grew up in the countryside of Taiwan, I desired to paint the beauty of this country. Facing the current society, in the heart is filled with emotion, these surge in the innermost feelings and romantic mood, I attempt because of a romantic work to transmit. I try to capture the views of shop windows with luxury goods, deluxe wedding dresses, the scenes of those lavish and ostentatious custom activities. And I attempt to show how people are apolaustic and how poverty of their inner life is. This thesis treats my creating backgrounds. In the theory foundation and literature discussion aspect, I inquire into three directions. First, the romanticism philosophy thought, pursues the intense sentimental performance, took oneself creates the scientific theory the evidence. Second, it is the Western landscape paintings in 18th- and 19th-century. From the Romanticism, the Barbizon School, to the Impressionism, several artists and their representative works are listed and analyzed. The last is the local painters in Taiwan. Five Taiwan painters in early stage are listed. Their country side-painting style also deeply affect on my creative. How these artists strongly influence my creative is analyzed in this thesis. This thesis consists of five chapters. In chapter 1, my goal and creation motive is described. In chapter 2, I introduce the background knowledge of this thesis. Paper study in this chapter is the foundation of my creative notion and paintings. In chapter 3, it gives a detailed description of my creating method and process. In chapter 4, it analyzes, by way of actual creation development, elaboration creation content and energetic significance. Conclusions, research attainment, the future and forecast are summarized in chapter 5.
